BULGARIANS ON MOVE AGAIN

AFTER SHORT REST TROOPS RESUME PURSUIT OF DISORGANIZED TURKS

THE DIPLOMATIC PHASE

Turkey's Appeal to Powers Was Nowhere Received With Favor—What Will Austria Do?

Fighting at Katalja.

By Associated Press.

London, Nov. 5.—It was officially announced in Constantinople today that fighting had begun between Bulgarians and Turks at the Katalja forts, according to a special dispatch from that city. The result of the fighting is not stated. The Bulgarians have cut off Constantinople's water supply.

November 1—Bulgaria occupies Demotica, cutting communication between Adrianople and Constantinople; Greek torpedo boat sinks Turkish cruiser.
November 2—Turks driven back in three day battle to Tchore.
November 3—Turks in full retreat on Constantinople. Porte asks for mediation by the powers.

By Associated Press

London, Nov. 5.—In the absence of news of fighting from the Balkan scene of war, Europe is giving attention to the diplomatic situation arising out of the war.

Although not all the powers have yet replied to Turkey's appeal for mediation, it is known the appeal nowhere received a very warm reception.

A more definite request from Turkey to the powers, to put an end to the war which she is expected to make in view of the French reply to her first application, is likely to receive more consideration. Even then, however, the powers will be unable to overlook the often repeated demand of the allied Balkan nations, that Turkey must deal directly with them.

All that the powers will be able to do, therefore, is to act as intermediaries in bringing the fighters together. Austria Hungary, the nearest neighbor to the Balkans, it is believed, will not sit quietly by and see the Balkan League establish itself across her path to the Aegean sea in which direction Austria's trade is expanding, while at the same time, the Servians spread to the Adriatic. Austria wants Albania reserved for Albanians. The first sign of dissension among the Balkan allies themselves comes in a dispatch from Belgrade in which it is said the Servians are beginning to declare that "autonomous Albania" which was agreed upon before the war has now faded away.

In the dispatch the Mussulman Albanians who fought against the Servian troops blamed for the change in Servian attitude.

In the meanwhile the Bulgarian troops near Tcharlu are resuming their advance on Tchatalja. After four nights and four days of continuous fighting around Lule Burgas, the Bulgarian soldiers received two days rest. This period expired today and the Bulgarians by this time probably are again on the move.

To get on the move so quickly, they must have worked hard, as they have thousands of wounded Turks and Bulgarians to care for, and have had to burn all or bury a large number of dead.

It is officially stated in a dispatch from Belgrade that the Servians after annihilating the Turkish army in Macedonia have been ordered to assist the Bulgarians, Greeks and Montenegrins. Nothing has been heard today of the position of the Turks at Tchatalja, but it is believed part of them managed to get behind the fortifications there. They are in bad shape because beside the host of injured, thousands of them dropped out of the ranks, exhausted from want of food, and most of these threw away their rifles and accoutrements. They have had two days in which to rally and reform.

It is reported the Greeks today made a premature attack on Saloniki, and were repulsed, but this lacks confirmation.

Reinforcements Continue to Go to Front.

By Associated Press.

Sofia, Nov. 5.—Reinforcements continue to go to the front from the Bulgarian capital in considerable numbers. Some Servian troops passed through here bound for Adrianople, and today eight batallions of volunteers, including Macedonians and Russians, entrained for the front.

It is reported that fighting still continues in the neighborhood of Serar and Tchorlu. People here are being kept in entire ignorance of the happenings around Adrianople and other places where Turks and Bulgarians are fighting. Nothing has been published here for the last three days.

The Sofia hospital and other institutions are crowded with wounded men. Thirty foreign war correspondents have announced they are leaving Bulgarian headquarters and returning to their respective countries.

Another Burkburnett Well Is On The Sand

Another well at Burkburnett is on the sand and will be drilled in this week. It is the Cowan, which was reported dry yesterday when nothing had been found at 1845 feet. At 1847 feet it tapped the sand and is believed to be as good a well as the Embry. The Cowan is one location directly north of the Schmocker. The Embry well was swabbed out yesterday and the tubing is being placed today with a packer, in an effort to secure a flow.

Oil matters hold but secondary interest today for L. C. Hivick, the well known and successful independent operator. The reason that a nine-pound girl was born this morning at the Mackechney sanitarium, it being Mr Hivick's first-born.

WILSON VOTES STRAIGHT DEMOCRATIC TICKET

Candidate Made No Secret of His Intentions—Feels Relief at End of Campaign

Special to the Times.

Princeton, Nov. 5.—Governor Wilson today made no secret of the fact that he intends to vote the straight Democratic ticket. He said, with a sigh of relief, "I feel like a boy out of school. I have not had much time to be with my wife and daughters, or to get much rest." He said the campaign had been a hard physical strain.

Most of the day, the governor planned to spend in answering letters. Tonight a small party will be at the Wilson home to hear the returns by private telegraph wire. Governor Wilson had planned to go to bed early, but the students of Princeton University have other ideas on the subject. They intend to have a mighty parade to the governor's house if the trend of election results should point his way.

"MERIDIAN ROAD" MEETING WED. NIGHT

Mayor Bell Calls Meeting to Discuss Steps To Be Taken To Bring Road Through Wichita Falls

A meeting of all citizens interested in getting Wichita Falls on the route of the proposed "Meridian Road" has been called by Mayor Bell for tomorrow night at the city hall. From the report of the secretary of this road, as published in The Times of yesterday, it seems to be uncertain whether this city will be on the line or not, and Dr. Bell is anxious that some action be taken.

It is probable that the meeting will appoint delegates to the Good Roads meeting to be held shortly at Waco, at which the Meridian Road will receive attention. This city is known to stand an excellent chance to secure this road, with all the attendant benefits and advantages and tomorrow night's meeting at the city hall is expected to take some definite action.

"CUSSED" ON STREET IS PLACED IN JAIL

First Fine Is Assessed For Profanity On Streets—Arrested Man Goes To Jail

An Oklahoma visitor is now repining in the city jail as a result of indulging in profanity on Seventh street this morning. The cuss-words smote upon the ear of Policeman Nall who persuaded the cusser to accompany him to the city hall. The arrested man was surly at first, but realized his error and when he reached the city hall offered to plead guilty. He tendered a check on a Frederick bank in payment of the fine which the mayor assessed, but the mayor thought cash would be more satisfactory all around. The cash was not forthcoming and the Oklahoman went to jail. The cussing that he had done on the streets sounded like an aid society meeting in comparison with the brand of profanity he dispensed as the cell door was closed, but it was no use.

LAST OF CTRLOAD OF HOGS IS SOLD HERE YESTERDAY.

The hog population of Wichita county has been increased by about 120, as a result of the Chamber of Commerce's "hog sale" which was ended yesterday when the last of the carload received here last week was disposed of. It is believed that as a result of the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce hog raising will be materially encouraged. The hogs were sold at prices considerably lower than they would have cost in the market and many farmers took advantage of the opportunity.

The Fort Worth packeries have been endeavoring for sometime to encourage hog raising in this section. The country along the Wichita Falls & Northwestern ships so many hogs to Fort Worth that a "hog special" was recently inaugurated on the road but this county raises very few.

The matter was brought up at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors and at the suggestion of Wiley Blair, the "hog sale" plan was decided upon. The hogs were sold at bare cost, the total being about $715.

S. Marshall of Electra.

CORPUS CHRISTI MAN COMMITS SUICIDE THIS MORNING

By Associated Press

Corpus Christi, Texas, Nov. 5.—Bud West, aged 31, a member of one of the most prominent families of Southwest Texas, killed himself here this morning by shooting himself in the head with a pistol in a house managed by Lucia Caldwell. West, in his own name, was worth more than $300,000 and is one of the owners of the West ranch, one of the largest in Southwest Texas. He has been in Corpus Christi for the last ten days and his friends have been unable to induce him to return to his home in Refugio. He is survived by his widow, father and mother, and five brothers, all residing on the West ranch near Refugio. The body will be shipped there tonight for interment.

WHOLE COUNTRY VOTING HEAVILY

ESPECIALLY HEAVY VOTE BEING CAST IN NORTHERN, CENTRAL AND WESTERN STATES

FORECASTS UNCHANGED

Early Reports Fail to Indicate Whether Regular or Progressives are Leading in Texas

The three-cornered presidential contest sent to the polls today voters who took an unprecedented interest in the outcome of a campaign that had been waged with unusual bitterness.

Mid-day reports from every quarter indicated a nation-wide record-breaking vote. In addition to the election of president, vice-president and members of Congress, thirty-three states are voting for governor, and thirty six states for legislatures which will fill vacancies in the United States Senate.

Generally good weather served to bring out a heavy vote. New York and Massachusetts created new records for early voting and the political leaders at the National presidential headquarters in New York announced this afternoon that their advices were that an enormous vote was being polled in every part of the United States, especially in the Middle West.

President Taft spent the morning at the home of his brother, Charles P. Taft in Cincinnati and early in the afternoon cast his ballot. The President was confident he would be returned to the White House.

Governor Woodrow Wilson was the first of the three candidates to cast his ballot.

Col. Roosevelt devoted the morning to correspondence and then in company with several neighbors went to the polling place in a fire truck house and cast his ballot shortly after noon.

Gov. Hiram W. Johnson of California, the vice-presidential nominee on the Progressive party ticket did not return to California in time to vote, as he filled out Col. Roosevelt's speaking engagements in the East after the Colonel had been shot. Gov. Johnson spent the day in New York City and will hear the return tonight at Progressive headquarters.

Splitting of ballots was reported in Michigan while there was evidence of scratching of tickets at many points in New York State. Estimates differ as to the hour when results on the presidential contest may be known tonight.

Political leaders figuring on landslides say the result will be known by 9 o'clock, while others are inclined to believe that it will be midnight or later before the successful head of the ticket is known.

Forecasts Unchanged.

By Associated Press.

New York, Nov. 5.—Reports to National political headquarters coming from the confidential agents of the three main parties bore out the press accounts of heavy voting throughout the Northern, Central and Western States.

Chairman McCombs at Wilson headquarters said he saw no reason to change his earlier prediction that Wilson would be the victor. The only Central State conceded to be in doubt was Michigan and National Committeeman Wood said the Democrats had an even chance there.

Chairman Dixon at Progressive headquarters still claimed that Col Roosevelt would be elected and added he was absolutely satisfied that the Progressive candidate would not finish below second.

Record Vote Expected in New York.

By Associated Press.

New York, Nov. 5.—A record vote is expected in New York City and State today. The total registration in this city is over 700,000 and a vote well over 650,000 is predicted. A vote of about 1,250,000 is expected in the State outside New York City.

The vote four years ago in city and state was 1,635,000.

Average Democratic Vote Being Cast in Texas.

By Associated Press

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 5.—Election day in Texas was rainy in the north central portion and west almost to the Panhandle. Elsewhere the weather was good. In South Texas it was reported perfect. The Democratic vote was about up to the average for a general election, according to early reports.

The only point reporting very heavy votes were counties where local tickets were hotly contested. There were several of these fights in South Texas and a few in North Texas.

Rain seemed to have little effect on the voting. Republicans, Progressives, Socialists and prohibitionists reported considerable activity. Republicans and Progressives in particular reported full vote, but there was little in the early reports of the leaders to indicate which of these parties would lead the other in Texas.

In Brooks county, home of I. I. C. Lasater, Progressive candidate for governor, the Progressive leaders said they had hopes of taking the county away from the Democrats and Republicans both. There were numerous reports of voting of Socialists. At Dalhart an early vote of sixty was cast for Debs, the Socialist presidential candidate.

Armed Mexicans at Polls.

By Associated Press

Corpus Christi, Texas, Nov. 5.—Twenty Mexicans have been supplied with rifles and placed outside the voting booths at San Diego to guard the election officers. Americans are indignant and allege that no such action is necessary. The election is hotly contested being a factional fight for county offices between Democrats and Republicans.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 5.—Taft carried Achusnet the first town in the United States heard from today.

The vote was: Roosevelt, 50; Taft, 104, Wilson 52. In 1908 Achusnet gave Bryan 12, Taft 118.

Norwell, Massachusetts voted as follows: Roosevelt, 104; Taft, 97, Wilson, 78. In 1908, Bryan, 40, Taft, 164.

SHAUGHNESSY MAY BOX WITH MODE

Fort Worth Man May Put on Exhibition with Local Boxer Monday Night

J. W. Mode of this city and Pete Shaughnessy of Fort Worth, will have a boxing bout next Monday night in this city, if arrangements can be perfected for the match. It will probably be held at the Y. M. C. A. building and the admission fee to be charged will be for the benefit of the association.

Shaughnessy is a boxer of some note. He claims the middleweight championship of the Southwest and has successfully defeated all challengers so far. Mode who is a Fort Worth & Denver conductor, is a well known local boxer and is considered able to hold his own against any one of his weight in this section.

Arrangements for the bout have not been perfected, but an effort is being made by local fight fans to have it staged.

RECORD DAY AT CITY NATIONAL BANK

Without any particular cause other than the general prosperity of the city and the improved business conditions yesterday was a record breaking day for the City National Bank. The items handled by the tellers during the day reached the comfortable total of $920,000, although there were no unusual large items in the list, it being the regular run of business. Items aggregating $266,000 were received in the morning mail before the bank opened, and during the day the transit department handled a total of 1500 items.

While there have been days when the bank's business exceeded the amount shown above, it would usually be due to some single large item which swelled the total. Yesterday's business, however, contained no exceptionally big items, being the result simply of the busy times and general prosperous conditions which prevail here.

Boy Killed While Hunting

Kirkland, Texas, Nov. 5.—Yesterday while a 16-year-old boy of R. L. Munn and the 12 and 14-year-old boys of John Mooring were out hunting with one gun for the three boys the Munn boy accidentally received the contents of the shotgun in the face at close range and death was instantaneous.

JOINT ADVERTISING FUND BEING PLANNED

Chamber of Commerce and Young Men's Progressive League May Unite in Movement

Plans for a joint advertising fund of $2000 to be raised by the Young Men's Progressive League and the Chamber of Commerce, and expended by a joint committee, have been formulated. Representatives of the Young Men's Progressive League will bring the matter before the Chamber of Commerce at the next meeting of the directors of the latter organization.

It is planned to use this money for magazine publicity, on a larger scale than this city has heretofore published. Small advertisements are published at present in Everybody's Magazine and "World Work" and good results have been secured. It is proposed to advertise more extensively and in a greater number of publications.

$12,000 FOR STREET LIGHTS AND $10,000 FOR SEWERS.

Although the city council had planned, in ordering today's bond election, to have $12,000 for sewers and $10,000 for street lights, somebody made a mistake which was never noticed until today and the ballots being voted on read $12,000 for street improvements and $10,000 for sewers. Inasmuch as the council minutes show that these amounts were decided upon, the mistake will not involve the legality of the bonds and will simply result in giving $2000 for street lights that the council had planned should go for sewer extension. When the mistake was discovered this morning, it was of course too late to make the correction and the bonds are being voted upon that way.

No opposition to either bond issue was manifested today and a fairly heavy vote was cast at the city hall where the election was held.

SOCIALISTS ATTACK MONTANA GOVERNOR

Executive and Democratic Candidates For Governor and Senator Assailed by Crowd

Butte, Mont., Nov. 5.—An automobile carrying Governor B. L. Norris, T. J. Walsh, Democratic candidate for senator and F. V. Stewart, Democratic candidate for governor, was assailed last night by a crowd listening to an orator expounding Socialistic doctrines. The glass wind shield of the car was smashed. Mr Walsh's face was cut and fists were raised at the governor, and Mr. Stewart. Half a dozen men seized the wheels of the car, but the chauffeur by throwing on the power tore the automobile from the grasp of the men and it sped to the auditorium where the governor spoke.

The sheriff caught one man in the act of throwing a rock at the automobile. Another man who cursed the American flag and tore down a flag displayed at a Democratic street meeting was pursued by a mob. The police reserves were called out to arrest him to save him from further violence, after he had been severely beaten. A large crowd joined in a monster demonstration for the American flag early today.

TENBRINK LEAVES TO MEET BRIDE

DUTCH SWEETHEART HE MARRIED "BY PROXY" WILL REACH GALVESTON SATURDAY

THE CEREMONY UNIQUE

Couple United in Marriage With Groom in Wichita Falls and Bride in Amsterdam

To meet the bride whom he married by proxy in Amsterdam, Holland, Henry ten Brink, storekeeper for the Wichita Falls Route left this afternoon for Galveston. His bride is coming over on a steamer which is due to arrive at Galveston Saturday. They will return at once to Wichita Falls, where they will make their home.

The novel marriage of Mr. ten Brink and his Dutch sweetheart several months ago attracted widespread interest. The marriage ceremony was performed with the groom in Wichita Falls and the bride in Amsterdam. Before a notary public ten Brink swore his desire to take the Dutch girl for his wife. In Amsterdam the bride swore a similar declaration. The Dutch consul, the Secretary of State and other officials gave official sanction to the ceremony, and the two were declared man and wife.

Since the ceremony ten Brink has been made storekeeper for the Wichita Falls Route and has proven himself a very valuable employe. Officials of the railroad have taken a keen interest in the couple and will give them an enthusiastic welcome when they arrive in Wichita Falls.

HARROLD MAN DIES FROM GUNSHOT WOUND

Constable G. W. Avis, Who Fired Shot, Wounded With Blow From Bottle

W. B. Turner, a farmer residing several miles north of Harrold, Wilbarger county, died yesterday as the result of pistol wounds received at the hands of Constable G. W. Avis of Harrold. The officer, it was learned, was attempting to arrest Turner after the latter and a cotton picker had engaged in an altercation which resulted in some blows being exchanged. Avis was struck in the head with a bottle and the shooting followed.

The constable was not placed under arrest, but is confined to his home, it is said, as a result of the injury he received. Turner's funeral took place today at Harrold. He is survived by a widow and ten children.

HEART BREAKERS A GOOD SHOW

Although the attractions at the Wichita Theatre so far this season have been such as to nearly surfeit the public on musical comedies, a good house attended "The Heart Breakers" last night and saw a good show. The production has an amusing theme, helped out with clever comedy and some good dancing, but there was not much in the way of music. Miss Vail's voice was a disappointment and one found more enjoyment in hearing Miss Bernard and Mr. Damarel. The latter's singing was especially good and the rich voice found much favor with the audience. On the whole, the music was not superlative, there was a sameness about the tunes and far from an excess of melody in the chorus.

There were some novelty dances of a catchy style shown to best advantage in "My Honolulu Honey Girl" and "They Sent For Me." Among the more pleasing of the songs were "If I Had a Hundred Hearts" and "Your Eyes, Your Smile and You." Mr Damarel as the heart master was a clever actor and Miss Vail also displayed considerable talent. Others who pleased were Miss Bernard and Edward Hume, the latter taking the part of the chauffeur savior. The production has much to recommend it.

WARM WEATHER FOOD

LIGHT, APPETIZING REPASTS FOR THE HOT DAYS.

All Kinds of Delicious Salads That May Be Easily Prepared and Are Inexpensive—Stuffing for the Tomatoes.

As soon as the really warm weather comes in housekeepers are on the watch for anything that will be a change or tend to tempt the appetites of those in her family.

Elaborate dishes requiring time and skill, to say nothing of their cost, she will pass by but simple, inexpensive additions to the daily menu are sure to be welcomed, writes Elizabeth Lee in the Chicago Daily News. For instance a salad made from toast and hard boiled eggs is not as well known as it should be.

To prepare it stale bread is toasted a light brown. The crusts are cut away and the square cut diagonally. One-half is piled with the grated yolk of egg, the other with the white finely chopped. The two are placed together and laid upon them may be boned sardine, a little salmon, lobster, or any fish at hand, covering with mayonnaise. The toast is transferred to a crisp leaf of lettuce.

As most housekeepers keep mayonnaise on hand this dish is quickly prepared, and at very little cost, too. For lunch this makes quite a substantial meal. Those who like peppers will find a sprinkling of the green shells both attractive and tasty.

Another inexpensive salad quickly prepared is made by mixing two ten-cent squares of cream cheese with enough cream or milk to form a paste. To this is added a small onion chopped fine, a half cup of any kind of nuts chopped, and salt to taste. This is piled upon lettuce leaves, each one garnished with a sprig of parsley.

In making chicken salad if one runs short of the meat a nice way of helping out is to inclose the salad in a ring of ham jelly. You make just a plain jelly with the gelatin slightly salt, and when almost cold beat in a little cream or the white of an egg and a half-cup of potted ham. Place in ring shape upon the dish and fill with the chicken salad, when you will have a most delicious and attractive looking salad.

Any bits of food left over in the ice box can be used up to make a stuffing of tomatoes. The inside of the tomato is taken out and mixed with almost anything at hand. I have tasted the combination of rice, a few nuts, a hard boiled egg, a sprig of parsley, and a tablespoonful of chopped parsley as a filling and found it very appetizing. Salt and pepper to taste are added and then the tomatoes are filled. They can be baked in the oven or put on the ice to chill just as one prefers the raw or cooked food. Both ways taste good.

Chocolate Gingerbread.

One cup molasses, one-half cup sour milk, one teaspoon ginger, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon salt; dissolve one teaspoon soda to a teaspoon cold water; add this and two tablespoons melted butter to the mixture; stir in two cups sifted flour; finally add two squares of chocolate and one tablespoon butter melted together; bake in three deep pie plates in moderate oven for about 20 minutes.

Vanilla Icing.—Break the white of one egg into a bowl and gradually beat into it one cupful of confectioners' sugar. Beat for three minutes; add one-half teaspoon vanilla extract and when cake is done and still warm spread between and on top. This cake is best when eaten fresh.

Green Peas Waffles.

Boil the peas until tender or use left over peas; drain until very dry, then mash the pulp through a strainer; pour a cup of boiling milk into a cup of strained peas, adding a generous tablespoon of butter, one of sugar and a half a teaspoon of salt. When the mixture cools add two eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately; two teaspoons baking powder sifted with a full cup of flour. If too thin add more flour. Bake in buttered waffle irons; sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve hot with maple syrup.

Hominy Drop Cakes.

One pint of fresh boiled hominy (cold may be used and, if the latter, break into grains as lightly as possible with a fork and heat in a double boiler without adding water), one tablespoon of water, two eggs whites and yolks beaten separately. Stir the yolks into the hominy first then the whites, add a teaspoon of salt, if not already salted. If so, half the amount. Drop by spoonfuls on well buttered tin sheets or pan and bake to a good brown in a quick oven.

Breadcrumb Pudding.

Two cups bread crumbs one cup sugar, one cupful molasses, one half cup raisins a little salt and cinnamon and two cups sweet milk, bake one half hour, stirring often, then add four cups sweet milk and bake two hours longer. It will whey and can scarcely be told from an Indian pudding. Serve hot with butter or cold with cream.

Sugar Pie.

One teacup sweet milk, one and one-half cups sugar, not quite half cup flour or cornstarch, one teaspoonful of vanilla flavoring. This will make filling for one pie baked in large pie tin. Bake without top crust.

PARK TREES PERILED

Fine Elms in New York Endangered by Caterpillars.

More Spraying is Needed but There is Not Enough City Money to do This Thoroughly, Says Commissioner Storer.

New York.—Visitors to Central park within the last few days and those who walk along the Fifth avenue side of the park, have been appalled at the destruction done to the fine elm trees by thousands of caterpillars, remarks a writer in the New York Tribune. They are the tussock moths, long known among landscape gardeners as one of the most persistent and destructive insects with which they have to deal. Within the limits of Central park they seem to have sprung into life in unusually large numbers this year. Charles Downing Lay, the landscape architect of the park, said recently that in a recent trip through the parks of Brooklyn and the Bronx he saw comparatively few of them.

E. S. Avery, who lives at the Metropolitan club, and several other lovers of New York's fine trees, have called attention to this unfortunate state of affairs, and have not hesitated to say that unless the deadly moth situation is taken in hand quickly and forcibly Central park and other sections of Manhattan Island which possess handsome trees will see many of the best specimens degenerated to decaying stumps before the approach of another spring.

Landscape architects and authorities on trees who were asked yesterday if it were too late in the season to do anything to counteract the destructive effects of these pests said on the contrary that this was the time to get to work. As soon as the caterpillars emerge from their cocoons, which they are now doing by the thousands, they start upward for the green leaves, upon which they feed, and then return to the trunk to lay their eggs within the bark. If the trees are well sprayed with arsenate of lead mixture they will die before denuding the tree partially of the leaves.

"This spraying is the second means of eradicating the moths," said William J. Zartmann yesterday. For ten years he was superintendent of parks in Brooklyn. "My method of fighting the tussock moth has been to have workmen clean off the trunk and branches thoroughly in the winter with wire brushes. The small cocoons are swept out of their hiding places, and, being caught on pieces of canvas under the tree, are then burned. This is a laborious job, for with large trees the men must get up to the top and scrape all the branches and one man cannot do much more than three trees a day.

"The spraying comes when the moths first appear—anywhere from the end of June to the middle of July. If thoroughly applied by power spraying machines to every part of the tree one good spraying ought to be sufficient."

Mr. Zartmann figured out the approximate cost of this work at about $1.50 a tree. The spraying is the most costly. A crew of five men and a modern power spraying machine, he said, ought to clean about sixty trees a day.

"One or two years' work is not enough," added Mr. Zartmann. "It must be faithfully followed out year after year, and then, while we cannot prevent the appearance of these insects entirely, they will be less in number and less destructive to the future beauty of the trees."

Park Commissioner Stover, when asked what was being done to kill off the moths and prevent their future propagation, said that he believed everything that could be done with the means at hand was being accomplished, and he added that spraying machines were at work in several parts of the park.

Besides the caterpillars the remaining elms show indications of other diseases not cognizable by the dead branches protruding in a most unpicturesque way from the sides and tops.

"THE MAN BEHIND"

We didn't mean the man behind the times nor the man behind his payments. Julius Caesar was 'the man behind' Rome. Washington was the "man behind" the United States at a crisis in its history. Every successful business venture, no matter how humble, has a man 'behind' the man who shoulders the responsibility and plans the campaign who possesses these qualities that bring success to him and to those associated with him in business.

Young man! If you wish to be 'the man behind' a successful enterprise attend the Tyler Commercial College of Tyler, Texas. America's largest school of Bookkeeping, Business Administration and Finance, Shorthand and Telegraphy. With such efficiency as this school will give you the time will come when you will "the man behind" a successful enterprise, when you will become a factor in the business world, and your name a synonym of success again exemplifying the fact that with educated head and skilled hands, young men and women can carve their names upon the tallest towers of fame.

We have now more students in daily attendance than any other three commercials schools in the state combined. This shows the overwhelming popularity of the Tyler Commercial College. It shows that the people appreciate the advantages of the famous Byrne systems, which save the student while qualifying himself to hold a good position almost $200 in time and board over what it would cost in a school teaching other systems.

We can place you in a good position just as soon as your course is finished. Write for a catalogue and make your arrangements to enter at once.

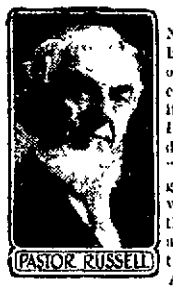
ARMAGEDDON OF THE SCRIPTURES

Startling Presentation of Coming Events.

PASTOR RUSSELL'S VIEWS.

Churches of All Denominations and the Civil Powers of Earth Are About to Unite in Common Cause—Powerful Influence Preparing For the Battle of Armageddon—A Reign of Anarchy Will Be the Result of the Warfare Until The Messiah Takes Control.



PASTOR RUSSELL

Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 3 — The Brooklyn Academy of Music was crowded to the limit today to hear Pastor Russell's discourse on the "Battle of Armageddon." His text was: "He gathered them together into a place called in the Hebrew tongue Armageddon" (Revelation xvi. 16.) The speaker said:

Armageddon in the Hebrew signifies the "Hill of Megiddo," or Mount of Destruction. It was famous as a battle field in Old Testament times.

The Lord has seen fit to associate the name Armageddon, with the great controversy between Truth and Error, right and wrong, God and Mammon, with which this age will close, perish, and the New Age of Messiah's glory be ushered in. He has purposely used highly symbolical figures of speech in the last book of the Bible, evidently with a view to hiding certain important truths until the due time for their revealment. But even in the due time, the Bible assures us, "None of the wicked shall understand" (Daniel xii. 9, 10)—none who are out of heart harmony with God—but only the wise of His people—the "wise virgin" class of the Master's parable.

I have long avoided presentation of my understanding of our text and its context. I take it up now by request and because I believe it is due time to be understood. I disclaim any special inspiration. In some particulars my views agree with those of other Bible students, and in other respects they disagree. Each hearer must use his own judgment, do his own Bible study, and reach his own conclusions.

Kindly remember that I am not responsible for the figures of speech used by the Lord. My interpretations do indeed constitute a terrible arraignment of institutions which we have all reverenced and which embrace good people, of good words and good works. God's saintly people in these various institutions, being comparatively few, are ignored when systems as a whole are dealt with in prophecy.

The Dragon, Beast, False Prophet.

Our context tells us that three impure spirits (teachings) will go forth from the mouths of the Dragon, the Beast and the False Prophet, and these three will be in accord, and symbolically the doctrines are represented by "frogs." These three doctrines are to have a mighty influence throughout the civilized earth. They are to gather the kings and their armies to the great Battle of Armageddon.

The ecclesiastical kings and princes, and their retinues of clergy and faithful adherents, will be gathered in solid phalanx—Protestant and Catholic. The kings and captains of industry, and as many as can be influenced by them, will be gathered to the same side. The political kings and princes, with all their henchmen and retainers, will follow in line on the same side. The financial kings and merchant princes, and all whom they can influence by the most gigantic power ever yet exercised in the world, will join the same side, according to this prophecy.

These "doctrines of demons" represented by the "frogs," will lead many noble people in this great army to assume an attitude quite contrary to their preference. For a time the wheels of liberty and progress will be turned backward and mediæval restraints will be considered necessary for self-preservation—for the maintenance of the present order of things.

In giving this interpretation, it is necessary for us to indicate what is symbolized by the Dragon, the Beast and the False Prophet. Bible students of nearly all denominations agree with us that the "Dragon" of Revelation represents the purely Civil Power. Protestant interpreters generally agree that the "Beast like a leopard" (Revelation xiii. 2) represents the Papacy. But fewer still, we fear, will be ready to support our view that Protestantism is the "Image of the Beast" (Revelation xiii. 15) in our context given another name, "the False Prophet." We urge no one to accept our interpretation nor shall we think hard of any who refuse it. We will neither slander nor otherwise injure them now, nor threaten them with eternal torture. They have the same right to their views that I have, and the same right to make them known to others. And I for one, will be very glad to consider anything which opponents may set forth as their interpretations of our text.

"Unclean Spirits Like Frogs."

The symbolisms of Scripture rightly understood are always forceful. When the Holy Spirit used a "frog" to symbolically represent certain doctrines or teachings we may be sure the true application will fit well. A frog has a sage look, a wise look. It swells itself up in an apparent endeavor to impress the beholder. Its great mouth well represents its chief power, used to croak.

Applying these symbols, we learn that an evil spirit, influence, teaching, will come from the Protestant churches federated, from the Church of Rome, and from the Civil authorities, all in full agreement. The spirit of all will be boastful; an air of superior wisdom and knowledge will be proudly assumed—all will croak in harmony. All will tell of dire results that would follow, involving the interests of both the present and the future life, if their counsel be not followed. However conflicting the creeds, the differences will be ignored in the general proposition that nothing ancient must be disturbed, or looked into, or repudiated.

The Divine authority of the Church, and the Divine right of kings, aside from the Church, will not be allowed to conflict. Any persons or teachings in conflict with these boastful and unscriptural claims will be branded as everything vile at the mouths of these "frogs" speaking from pulpits and platforms and through the religious and secular press. The nobler sentiments of some will be strangled by the philosophy of the same evil spirit which spoke through Caiaphas the high priest, respecting Jesus. As Caiaphas declared it expedient to commit a crime in violation of justice, human and Divine, to be rid of Jesus and His teachings, so this "frog" spirit will approve of every violation of principle necessary to their self-protection.

The croaking of these "frog" spirits or doctrines will gather the kings and princes, financial, political, religious and industrial into one great army. The spirit of fear, inspired by the croakings of these "frogs," will scourge the passions of otherwise good and reasonable men to fury, desperation. In their blind following of these evil spirits, evil doctrines, they will be ready to sacrifice life and everything on the altar of what they mistakenly suppose is justice, truth and righteousness, under a Divine arrangement.

For a brief time, as we understand the Scriptures, these combined forces of Armageddon will triumph. Free speech, free mails, and other liberties which have come to be the very breath of the masses in our day, will be ruthlessly shut off under the plea of necessity, the glory of God, the commands of the Church, etc. All will seem to be serene, until the great social explosion in our context described as the "great Earthquake." An "earthquake," in symbolic language, signifies social revolution, and the declaration of the context is that none like unto it ever before occurred. (Revelation xvi. 18, 19.) Jesus described it as a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation.—Matthew xxiv. 21.

The Frogs Will Gather Them.

The false, frog-like teachings will gather together into one host the great, the rich, the wise, the learned and the kings of the earth, to battle. At this juncture Divine Power will step forward, and our text tells us that HE shall gather the marshaled hosts to Armageddon—to the Mountain of Destruction. The very thing which they sought to avoid by their union, federation, etc., will be the very thing they will hasten. Other Scriptures tell us that God will be represented by the Great Messiah, and that He will be on the side of the masses. Thus we read in Daniel xii. 1: "At that time shall Michael [the Godlike One—Messiah] stand up"—assume authority. He will take possession of His Kingdom in a manner little looked for by many of those who erroneously have been claiming that they were His Kingdom, and authorized by Him to reign in His name and in His stead.

Jesus declared, "His servants ye are unto whom ye render service." Some may be rendering service to Satan and to error, who claim to be rendering service to God and to righteousness, and some of these may be serving ignorantly, as did Saul of Tarsus, who "verily thought that he did God a service" in persecuting the Church. The same principle holds true reversely. As an earthly king does not hold himself responsible for the moral character of each soldier who fights in his battles, so the Lord does not vouch for the moral character of all who will enlist and fight on His side of any question. "His servants they are to whom they render service," whatever the motive or object prompting them.

The same principles will apply in the coming Battle of Armageddon. God's side of that battle will be the people's side, and the very nondescript host, the people will be pitted at the beginning of the battle. Anarchists, Socialists, and hot-headed radicals of every school of reason and unreason, will be in the forefront of that battle. The majority of the poor and the middle class prefer peace at almost any price. A comparatively small number, God's consecrated people, will at heart be longing for Messiah's Kingdom. These will bide the Lord's time and wait patiently for it; they will be of good courage, knowing the outcome outlined in the "more sure word of prophecy," to which they have done well to take heed "as unto a light shining in a dark place until the Day dawn."—II Peter i. 19.

The masses will be restless of their restraints, but will be conscious of their own weakness as compared to the kings and princes, financial, religious and political, which will then hold sway. Besides, the masses have no sympathy with anarchy. They realize truly that the worst form of government is better than none. The masses will seek relief through the ballot and peaceful readjustment of earth's affairs for the elimination of evil, for the placing of monopolies and utilities, and the supplies of nature in the hands of the people for the public good. The crisis will be reached when the hitherto upholders of law shall become violators of the law and resisters of the will of the majority as expressed by the ballot. Fear for the future will send the well meaning masses to desperation; and anarchy will result when Socialism fails.

The Cloud's Silver Lining.

Horrible would be this outlook for the future did we not have the infallible Word of God assuring us of a glorious outcome! Divine Wisdom has withheld until our day the great knowledge and skill which is at the same time breeding millionaires and discontents. Had God lifted the veil a thousand years sooner the world would have lined up for its Armageddon a thousand years sooner. But that would have been too soon for the Divine purpose because Messiah's kingdom is to be the great Thousand Year Sabbath of the world's history. God in kindness veiled our eyes until the time when the gathering to Armageddon would immediately precede Messiah's taking to Himself His great power, and beginning His reign.—Revelation xi. 17, 18.

"Send Them Strong Delusions."

St. Paul wrote prophetically of our time, that it would be one of serious trial and testing to many professing to be Christians. The reason for this he states—they received not the Truth in the love of it. (II Thessalonians ii. 10, 11.) They preferred their own erroneous theories, the Apostle explains, and therefore God will give them over to a "strong delusion," and let them believe the lie which they preferred, and let them suffer for missing the Truth which they did not love. Thus they will be in the condemned host, "fighting against God," because of their lack of love for the Truth.

It is sad to say that we all as Christians have been laboring under a thorough delusion respecting God's Plan. We have claimed that Christ set up His Church in Kingdom power, and that the Church has been reigning on the earth as His representative. On the strength of this delusion, Jews and heretics have been persecuted to death as opponents to Christ's Kingdom. All the while we unrighteously repeated the Lord's prayer, "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth, as in Heaven." When the Redeemer said [illegible] again to make us His Bride and joint-heirs; but we ignored the Scriptures. We were drunk, as the Scriptures symbolically say, "all nations were drunk" with the false doctrine. It is this false doctrine that will constitute the "frog" spirit which soon will begin to croak and to prepare for Armageddon.

The Bible presentation is that the world is a section of the universe in rebellion against Divine authority, under the captaincy of Satan and his associated fallen angels. By Divine grace Jesus has already "tasted death for every man," and the merit of that sacrifice must, eventually, grant Adam and his posterity a full, fair opportunity for the attainment of everlasting life. All who thus seek the Divine program and are walking in the light may know something at least respecting the "times and seasons." These brethren "are not in darkness, that that day [and that battle of Armageddon] should overtake" them "as a thief"—unawares.

Armageddon Not Yet but Soon.

For forty years the Armageddon forces have been mustering for both sides of the conflict. Strikes, lockouts and riots, great and small, have been merely incidental skirmishes as the belligerent parties crossed each other's paths. Court and Army scandals in Europe, Insurance, Trust and Court scandals in America, have shaken public confidence. Dynamite plots, charged by turns on employees and on employers, have further shaken confidence and tended to make each distrustful of the other. Bitter and angry feelings on both sides are more and more manifest. The lines of battle are daily becoming more distinctly marked. Nevertheless Armageddon cannot yet be fought. Other matters intervene, according to prophecy.

Gentile times have still two years to run. The "Image of the Beast" of our context must yet receive life—power. The Image must be transformed from a mere mechanism to a living force. Protestant Federation realizes that its organization will still be futile unless it receive vitalization—unless the glorified [redacted] directly or indirectly shall [redacted] ized as possessed of apostol[redacted] tion and authority to teach [redacted] prophecy indicates will come [redacted] two horned beast, which, w[redacted] symbolically represents the [redacted] England. A correspondent who inquires as to where the famus summary of Webster's career by Rufus Choate may be found—the sentence being omitted from some of the collections which publish the speech—is referred to The Works of Rufus Choate by S. G. Barown. The sentence contains 1,259 words.

But Sealshipt oysters are as fresh when you get them as they were when taken fro mthe shell at the seashore all because of the extra care taken in preparing and shipping them. They are seldom more than two or three days removed from the seashore when you get them, and have been kept in such a way that they have not had a chance to become spoiled.

505 UNION LABEL 505

Today is the time and the opportunity for Democrats all over these United States to clinch not only the presidency, but both branches of Congress, and that done, the house-cleaning will begin after March 4th.

A straw vote on the presidential race at the Opera house last night was taken with the following result: Taft, 10; Roosevelt, 46; Wilson, 156; Debs, 1. That is about the proportion the vote on the candidates throughout this State will be.

Notwithstanding the ballot being voted today is as large as a page of this paper and has seven tickets on it, it is much easier to vote than the size would indicate. One man entered a booth, was handed a ballot by the presiding judge, which he marked according to the way he wanted, and voted, consuming only one and a half minutes from the time he was given the ballot until it was deposited in the ballot box. That is not so bad. The election officers, also, are counting the ballots just about as fast as they are being voted, which was not the case in the primary election. One reason for this is that about all the voters are voting their parties ticket without scratching, and that makes the counting much easier than when the ticket is scratched.

The last of the car load of brood sows shipped brought from Fort Worth to this city by the Chamber of Commerce were disposed of to John Moore, a farmer, residing seven or eight miles north ow this city. There is a great demand for stock of that kind in Wichita county this year. An immense feed crop of all varieties has been made, and those who made the feed crops would rather feed it to hogs than sell outright. Several more car loads of brood sows could be disposed of to the farmers of this vicinity readily, and the Chamber of Commerce efforts along that line are commendable.

HOW TEXAS VOTED IN 1908

In 1908 the popular vote cast for Taft throughout the United States was 7,637,676; Bryan, 6,393,182; Debs, 448,453; Chaffin, 241,252. Taft's plurality over Bryan being 1,233,494.

The vote on the presidential question in Texas in 1908 was: Taft, 65,602; Bryan, 216,737. Bryan's plurality over Taft 151,135.

The vote in Wichita County that year was Bryan, 804; Taft, 255 Chafin 16; Debs, 23. Bryan's plurality 549

According to the vote cast in the July primaries of this year, there were 1700 Democrats who voted in the governor's race and if all those who voted for Colquitt and Ramsey vote the Democratic presidential ticket in [illegible] days election it will show an increase in the Democratic vote in this county in four years time of 897, or more than double

The election today however, creates but little interest. What interest there is seems confined largely as to the number of states Wilson will carry and as to whether Taft or Roosevelt will run next to Wilson.

CLOSE OF A MOST REMARKABLE CAMPAIGN

The closing of the polls tonight will bring to an end one of the most remarkable presidential campaigns this country has ever known. Of course it is beyond human power to forecast the result with any degree of accuracy but all along there has been a feeling that the Democrats would win and it certainly seems that if they do not win this time—at a time when everything seems so favorable, it will be useless to ever make another attempt. Virtually the campaign is at an end. All that remains to be done is to count the votes and announce the result of a political fight that has for weeks been decided in the minds of the voters.

Before and after the Baltimore convention, there was some fear that the Democrats would do what they had nearly always done before,—act the fool and split up into factions, but to the disappointment of the Republicans, they did not do this this time, and in this fight have presented a more united front than ever before. The bitterness created by the rival candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination was soon wiped out and harmony restored, and within two weeks after the Baltimore convention all the defeated candidates for the nominations together with their campaign managers had joined in a movement that had for its purpose the election of Wilson, and they notonly declared their intention to vote for the nominee, but took the field and have kept busy right up the time the voting commenced.

For this reason and the further reason that ninety per cent of the votes to be polled for Roosevelt today will come from the Republican party, it does not seem possible that Wilson can be defeated, even if no more votes are polled for him today than were polled for Bryan four years ago, and there is hardly a doubt but that he will do thus.

PRESENTED WITH GOLD MEDAL FOR HEROISM

Dean Howard Receives Splendid Gift From R. Rylands and Lainsbury

Dean Howard is the proud possessor of a handsome gold watch presented to him by R. Rylands and N. E. Lainsbury whom he rescued from drowning at Lake Wichita on October 31.

Mr. Rylands and Mr. Lainsbury started out in a sail-boat to go up the lake to shoot ducks. When about three hundred yards from the shore the boat turned over and its two passengers were in danger of being swept off their perilous perch by the high waves that were rolling.

Several attempts to reach them by persons on shore with row boats were abandoned on account of the high waves When Mr. Howard arrived he started out to reach them. His boat was full of water by the time he got to them and was in danger of sinking and he could not permit them to get into it but allowed them to catch hold of the stern and towed them into shore.

All three were exhausted when they reached land and but for Mr Howard's bravery the two men would undoubtedly have been drowned.

PRESERVING JUICES OF STEAK

Great Point to Be Remembered When Broiling of the Meat Is Undertaken.

In an article on "The Appetizing Beefsteak," in the Woman's Home Companion, Fannie Merritt Farmer, the well-known cooking authority, presents a number of recipes and gives the following general advice about steaks:

"The underlying principle which governs good broiling is this: One side of the meat must be quickly seared, the meat must be turned, and the other side quickly seared. This prevents the escape of any of the juices. Turn almost constantly for the first minute of the cooking, then the meat must be cooked on one side, turned and cooked on the other, to suit individual taste.

"The best cuts of meat for broiling are porter house, sirloin, crosscut of rumpsteak and second and third cuts from top of round. Porterhouse and sirloin cuts, although commanding about the same price per pound as the cross cut of the rump, prove more expensive on account of the greater loss in bone and fat. Round steak is very juicy, but, having coarser fiber, is never as tender. Neither is the flank end of a porterhouse very tender. For this reason, it is a good plan to cut it off before cooking the steak and use it for meat cakes (Hamburg steak) or a small stew, or perhaps a small beefsteak pie. Cut out the tenderloin and reserve it to be cooked for one meal; cut off the flank and save it to be prepared for another; then broil the sirloin for dinner. The bone may be used to give added richness to the stock, if the flank end is utilized for a stew."

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Always use soft water for washing purposes whenever possible.

Wash a little paraffin in the blacking to increase the brightness of the polish.

To take away the oily taste when using oil for frying, make the oil very hot and then fry a piece of onion in it, and when brown take it out.

One of the most useful herbs in cookery is thyme, which is invaluable for seasoning forcemeat, meat balls, etc. Both lemon and common thyme should be stored.

To remove machine oil stains, cover them with lard for several hours, and then wash with soap and water. When the lard is washed out the spots will have disappeared.

When darning stockings run a thread around each hole before beginning and draw until the edges lie flat. This makes the hole appear smaller, and it will be much easier to mend.

To keep a zinc-covered kitchen table bright rub it occasionally with a cloth dipped in vinegar.

To dry a one-piece frock and have it keep its shape, slip it on a wooden coat hanger that you have first covered with a couple of folds of old muslin.

FINDS HIS LONG-LOST RING

Man Gets Wedding Band Buried in Sand Three Years at King's Beach in Massachusetts.

Boston, Mass.—Three years ago this summer J. Franklin Brown, now head bookkeeper in a shoe factory at Chelsea, lost a wedding ring while in bathing on King's Beach, Swampscott. Today he has the ring, and behind its restoration is a story of a bit of detective work.

Two weeks ago Arthur Getchell, mail clerk in the Lynn postoffice, was rolling around on the beach in a bathing suit when the sandy recess in which the ring had lain hidden for three years was exposed. The only clue to the identity of the owner was an inscription on the inside which read, "From Flossie to Frank. Oct. 11, 1905."

How to find the owner on such a meagre clue, when thousands bathe on the beach every summer, was the problem. For a week Getchell searched every place that he could think of. Then, remembering the old adage about two heads being better than one, he consulted a friend, George F. Alley, and out of their conferences, a bright thought popped forth: "Why not look up the marriage records on that date."

That settled it. They found a Frank and a Flossie were married and Frank lived then at 53 Essex street, Lynn, from where he was traced. Flossie, before she became Mrs. Brown, was Miss Lauckner of 41 Porter street, Lynn.

RECOMMENDS INDUSTRIAL COURT TO SETTLE INJURIES

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 5.—Tom Finty Jr., staff correspondent of the Dallas News and one of the most competent citizens in Texas, has rendered a report to the Texas Welfare Commission on Compensation to Employes for Casualties Occurring in Course of Employment, in which he directs attention to the waste resulting from our present system of settling personal injury cases. Mr Finty quotes from a statement by the committee of the Wisconsin Legislature, which investigated the subject and drafted the workmen's compensation law of that state. It says that "under the old system (similar to the one now in use in Texas) in order for an employer to pay about $18 to an injured employe for or on account of injury, it required $82 to carry the $18 to him." The damage suit lawyer, who suffers no injury whatever, usually gets half the award, and court costs and other items make up the remainder of the expense.

Mr Finty recommends the establishment of an industrial court of competent jurisdiction, similar to that now employed by the state of Wisconsin, to settle personal injury claims and eliminate as far as possible the waste resulting from our present system and give all injured workmen reasonable and prompt compensation

Technicalities were laid aside by the election officers today and wherever a new citizen had a right to vote he was permitted to do so without question. In a number of cases if the election officers had been inclined to stand on technicalities oil men and other new citizens might have been ruled out. The liberality of the election officers was a surprise to many of the oil men from the northern states where every technicality is invoked at the elections by opposing partisans.

Some unknown person threw a stone through a window at the home of Rev. F. F. Walters, pastor of the First Christian Church between ten and eleven o'clock last night breaking out the window pane and frightening Mrs. Walters badly. Rev. Walters had just come in after being out with Mr. Pond canvassing funds for the new church and was seated near the window counting up the subscriptions with Mrs. Walters when they were startled by something striking the window sill. An instant later a stone as large as a goose egg crashed through the pane bounding along the floor and barely missing one of the children sleeping in an adjoining room. The stone was evidently thrown from across the street The identity of the thrower is unknown.

ELECTED

LOEB AND LIEPOLD

Have Been Elected to Furnish all Well Dressed Men with their Suits, Overcoats, Shoes and Furnishings

The "Advertising Man"

W. H. Cousins, the Wichita Falls druggist who occasionally finds time to contribute a column of miscellany to The Times is also editor of the advertising department of the Practical Druggist, a trade publication of National circulation.

In the current issue of this publication Mr. Cousins has an article on the "Advertising Man" which is herewith reproduced:

"The capstan around which is coiled the cable that makes the ship of business success sure of her moorings."

Not since Solomon set about to determine the ownership of the baby of Biblical tradition has there been a man of such varied wisdom, until the advent of the modern producer and purveyor of publicity brain throbs—the man that the modern business world is pleased to denominate the advertising man; the man who writes the copy that convinces the world, or a part of it at least, that Batson's breakfast food is alone responsible for the brain and brawn of the American nation.

We also find, this chap laboring in the production of copy that is to surround the photograph of Jason Jernigan in the Happy Home Monthly, telling how Jason had been an invalid for fourteen years, and after taking twenty eight bottles of your valuable remedy, is as strong as a dray horse and as pert as a pointer pup.

Nothing so thoroughly demonstrates and proves the versatility of the advertising man's knowledge as the fact that he makes a go of every kind of manufactured product, from the new brand of toothpicks to the latest thing in suspension bridges. In so doing he must appeal to tastes, ranging from that of the beggar to the bloated bondholder, and purses from the washerwoman to the chap who has to pay storage on his coin. There are probably a few advertising specialists in the country who delineate the merits of one line or class of merchandise, but the seasoned adsmith, the successful veteran who gets results, has in most cases gone the route from fountain pens to automobiles, and from mouse traps to real estate, and in getting results has had to appeal to a wide range of natures. For instance, his happy wheeze anent the thorough goodness of Clark's peach preserves at forty cents the short pint did not appeal to any great extent to the twelve dollars a week man, whose stomach bore a close and long standing acquaintance with cow peas and bacon, and whose neck valve had never gurgled anything rarer than common water, but it was put up to the advertising man to get this chap to buy the goods or get off the job, so he rolled up his sleeves and buckled down, with the result that we find the president of the road and the section boss pouring cream and sprinkling sugar over the same brand of cereal excelsior, and we find the same kind of edible sawdust in the carpenter's dinner pail that we find on the menu at the millionaire's club.

The advertising man has to a certain extent limited the duties of that once greatest factor in the proposition of converting raw material, first into finished product and later into cash—the salesman. Not so many years ago the marketing of a product was left to a large extent in the hands of the men who went out on the road in quest of orders. The first question that confronted these salesmen when they approached a buyer was whether or not the buyer wanted the product at all, but since the advertising man has come into the scheme of marketing a product the question has changed to "How much do you want?"

The advertising man has put the product on the market by appealing directly to the consumer, the man who takes it entirely off the market and out of commerce forever, and the sales manship has come to be merely a matter of the number of cases, the discounts and shipping instructions.

The comfortable looking salesman who sits in the Pullman and boasts of solid car orders to his less wise companions and tries to look the part of the factory's only chance to get the goods out has come to be regarded as a large joke and of no more importance than any o fthe other workers whose labor makes it possible to give the populace the finished product at a price they are able to pay.

Before the coming of modern advertising man it was customary for a manufacturer to make a product and man the road with what was commonly known as "smooth salesmen" to see if the product could be sold. He did this without making a single arrangement looking to the ultimate sale to the consumer; or, rather, the manufacturer considered his task finished and his work done when his goods were in the hands of the retailer. But the advertising man demonstrated and very forcibly so, that the manufacturer was working backwards. The advertising man says "advertise the goods today, and make them tomorrow," and under his publicity plan the consumer is the first man who hears of the goods. He is made acquainted with their merits and the price, and, after the advertising man has given him a graphic description and assurance of their thorough goodness and adaptibility to his needs, he closes with his near axiom "For sale by all dealers," hence Mr. Consumer goes to Sellem & Co., and asks for goods that Sellem & Co., never heard of, but is told as usual that they are expecting a shipment soon; so the consumer goes again and again and asks for the goods that the advertising man has told him were best, and when the salesman comes with the line Sellem & Co., are not only willing but eager to buy.

The advertising man wisely provides for the goods from their creation to their consumption. Under the old plan it was possible for experienced salesmen to sell goods to the retailer, but it was up to the retailer to resell these goods, single handed and alone, to people who had never heard of them, hence when the salesman came again he found that the retailer looked on his goods as stickers that were absolutely unmovable and deserved to be invoiced with the fixtures of the store.

To the advertising man belongs the credit for convincing the manufacturer that the proper method of effectually advertising a product is to appeal, not to the merchant, but to the man who is going to consume or destroy the goods, and get them out of the way and make room for next year's output.

No legitimate manufacturer can afford to sell a retailer goods concerning which there is a ghost of a question about the retailer being able to resell them. In the modern advertising man's selling plan the retailer is not consulted or asked anything about the marketing of a product that he is later going to have to sell.

The advertising man approaches the housewife through the advertising department of her favorite magazine and delineates in telling style the merits of the merchandise which he wishes her to buy, when the proper time comes. He even goes so far in the perfection of his plan that his copy is displayed on either side of the column of the serial story continued from page 4, and as my lady peruses with great interest the almost animated sentences telling how Hugh Roxton bravely rescued Beryl Underwood from the cruel waves at the risk of his own life, she dare not look to the right or the left of the column as her mind is sure to go from Hugh to holeless hosiery and beautiful Beryl would certainly get lost in a maze of descriptive adjectives extolling the pre-eminent superiority of So and So's vacuum cleaner.

In most cases the advertiser gets away with the housewife's attention with his "HOUSE CLEANING A LUXURY" against the author's, "DARLING I LOVE YOU."

The advertiser is aided in his appeal by the commercial illustrator, whose pictures always show the lady who manipulates the cleaner to bear a striking resemblance to the Venus of Milo dressed in one of those at-home gowns, smiling like a magnolia bud, and cleaning a twelve room house, while the cook makes toast. And, usually, the author's illustrator makes the heroine show more wrinkles than roses, often her feet are not mates, her shape borders on deformity and her features look as if they were mad at each other.

What the successful advertiser does is done well. His copy may not say what he would wish it to say, but it must say that which will make the millions sit up and take notice. His sentences must be terse and to the point, as they are intended for an universal audience, the whole world. High flown phrases would probably appeal to a small class of people. For instance, if he said: "Cranford's Baked Beans are a Prime Product and the Acme of Culinary Elegance" there would probably be a hundred college professors in the country, those huge spectacled long-haired vendors of tangled English who would burn up the telephone wires getting a case of Mr. Cranford's product up to the house, but instead the ad man says: "Cranford's Beans Are Good Beans Well Cooked," and the man who knows how to get the best results from a pick and shovel is wise in a minute to what he means, and the shovel artist is the man who is responsible for the demand for next year's output. He is the man who puts the beans where they will not compete with next year's crop. Not only does the advertising man have to be an adept at the art of description, but he must make his delineation of the merits of his merchandise appeal to people who are going to buy and consume either his or a similar product.

Some advertisers whose copy is entitled to be termed classic, and is intended to portray the merits of a book on chemistry, or tell of the unquestioned excellence of Doctor Dundorenblitzen's culture media, can afford to write Shakespearean hidden meaning copy, but theirs is not a universal appeal. It is an appeal to a class of customers that is perfectly at home when trying to find out whether the advertiser is extolling the merits of his goods or drawing a word picture with a view to giving the reader a prize if he guesses what is meant. This kind of copy would promote the popularity of Peterson's Pomade for Punk Complexions to about the same extent the proverbial snowflake would quench a prairie fire.

The varied knowledge of the modern advertising man is something wonderful, and is probably not equaled by that of any other class of workers in the world. He is the man who made the Hobo and the Nabob smoke the same kind of tobacco, and has put the plumber and the plutocrat on the same brand of caffeinless coffee. His greatest efforts and most brilliant successes are in the promotion of universally used products.

This is where his varied knowledge of human nature, and his thorough knowledge of his own product, are brought into strong play. He hands the industrial journal a bunch of copy setting forth the fact that his great factory, owing to its immense output and colossal volume of business, is able to put this large cake of good shaving soap on the market at twenty-five cents, while the copy for publications that are to be placed on the reading room tables of the Gotroy Yacht Club cuts out price and screams quality in a voice that gets the business.

It takes vastly more brains and experience to promote successfully the sale of a shoe polish whose ultimate sale amounts to ten cents than it does to sell an automobile, the retail value of which is $5,000. The automobile advertiser has one class of buyers to appeal to, while the promoter of the human hoof paint has at least ninety-five per cent of the civilized world to reach, or they will buy the other fellow's polish.

One of the things the modern advertising man is doing for the salesman is to pave his pathway smoothly cover it with soft fluffy divan cloth, so that the salesman will have easy going and his hardest and most fatiguing work will be looking up the rating of the Junction Mercantile Co., and showing them where to sign.

The traveling salesman who once had the task not only of selling but advertising the goods has had his burden considerably lightened. The goodness and desirability of his product is impressed on the retailer by consumers who have been reached by the publicity man through an effective advertising medium. The sales-

NEW NEWS OF YESTERDAY

Great Desire of W. A. Camp That Wasn't Gratified.

Former Manager of the New York Clearing House Had Consuming Ambition to Find One Day's Exchanges Exactly Balance

By E. J. EDWARDS

One of the most famous managers in the history of the world's largest clearing house association—that of New York city—was the late William A. Camp. He held that position for nearly a quarter of a century and in that time he carried the clearing house through two famous panics—that of 1893 and 1897 and several lesser financial disturbances. No financial history of the country in the period from 1870 to 1891 would be complete without paying considerable attention to the activities of Mr. Camp as manager of the New York Clearing House association and the work of that institution under his management.

Recently I told of the improvised institution of research which Mr. Camp as manager of the clearing house conducted to test the minor's ability to count without external aid. Mr. Camp was a man of delightful whims and this was one of them. But there was yet another whim which had an greater hold of him. It became in fact the great consuming ambition of his life as manager of the clearing house.

This ambition was to see one day's exchanges established for the purpose of making it possible to exchange all the checks and drafts without balances. The members of the association have to send upon deposit or which are drawn against the checks. Every bank comes at a certain hour each day with checks and drafts which they call items that have been received upon deposit within 24 hours. Then the clerks go around presenting the drafts to representatives of each bank. In that way the exchanges are made between banks and with the drafts which it has received for collection and is charged with the items presented to it for collection. Then if there be any balance the bank must pay it in to the clearing house which settles with each bank. With this explanation in mind you will understand the nature of the task which has been with me every day when the Clearing House association opens.

It occurred to me I should think some ten years ago that it would be a wonderful thing if one day's exchanges in the clearing house so exactly balanced that there would be nothing to pay over. See what that would mean. It would mean that all of the sales and purchases of commodities which were represented by those checks and drafts and which had taken place in any one day would exactly balance one another just as if you wrapped your pocket book for so many days certain period on one day's sales. The more I thought of this the more anxious I became that it should happen at some time during my service as manager of the clearing house that the exchanges would exactly balance so that there would not be a dollar to pay over to anyone. And at last this became my ambition.

But the thought of success came to me a mild case only I have never been able to see it gratified. There have been a few times when exchanges which aggregated a hundred millions or other about were so nearly balanced with a few hundred dollars balance to pay. I remember vividly that one day I was overjoyed with the prospect that the exchanges would balance exactly. What a triumph that would be. But disappointment came and now every day when I come to pay I must be the day when the exchanges balanced exactly.

Perhaps I should say that later I met Mr. Camp and asked him if in any year the exchanges balanced.

"No, not yet," he said with that peculiar smile of his. "But there are months in the year when they come very near balancing."

Again I asked Mr. Camp about the exchanges and I asked him if the exchanges balanced.

"Not yet," he replied. "But I have hopes that they will balance some time."

Later, when I saw Mr. Camp after it became known that he was to retire from the management of the Clearing House association he said to me:

"I have carried this clearing house through some severe panics. The aggregate exchanges effected here have been up into the trillions. But I have got to go away from here with one deep regret, for I never shall see the exchanges at this clearing house exactly balance. And yet it might have been for it was all chance and fate was against me."

man, even though it be his first trip, finds comment from him on the merits of his goods unnecessary. The ad man has beaten him to it.

The present age has been denominated the age of specialists by some of the wise ones, who in many cases have spoken more wisely than they knew. Specializing has brought the preacher a pulpit, the barrister a brief, the physician a patient, and from the womb of necessity there has been born a man child, whose fertile brain and tireless hands, under the tutorship of an unrelenting mother, have quickened the life blood and stimulated the pulse of the trade veins of the gerat world. And methinks that in the future when generations yet unborn gather in the Hall of Fame to drop tears of admiration on the plaster of paris breasts of long notables, among other tenants of the niches will be an imposing statue of the man who made the world acknowledge that there were only two kinds of laundry soap, namely, his and all others. And crowned with a laurel wreath that would make Horatius of ancient Rome gasp for breath and scream for help will be the chap who sat in his ten-by-twelve office on the twenty-second floor and slipped the denizens of earth printed conversations that made them buy Tabor's Tooth Paste by the shipload.

EARLY VOTING NOT HEAVY IN THE CITY

Delay in Opening Several Boxes May Cut Vote Short Here—Much Interest in Outcome

Election day opened in Wichita Falls with wet, cloudy weather, but by early this afternoon the clouds had been dispelled and the day was fair.

The voting was slightly above the normal, according to estimates. Following were the total votes at the five city boxes at 3 o'clock this afternoon:

No. 1	82
No. 2	150
No. 11	60
No. 12	146
No. 13	232
Total	670

The city hall and bridge boxes did not open until the morning was several hours gone, owing to a misunderstanding on the part of those appointed to serve. As a result, some who went to vote were unable to cast their ballots and this may result in light voting at these boxes when the totals are in. It is understood that the same condition prevailed at some of the rural boxes.

Considerable interest was being manifested in the outcome and early this afternoon, before any definite news could possibly have been forthcoming. The Times was receiving telephone calls for news of results in the Eastern States.

In the bond election at the city hall a total of 188 votes had been cast at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

If a man is an invalid and wishes to live, give him an engrossing task to perform. This is the lesson of the last months of General Grant's life, according to Mark Twain, as quoted in "Harper's Magazine." After the general finished his memoirs, Mark Twain writes, "the lack of any strong interest to employ his mind enabled the tedious weariness to kill him. I think his book kept him alive several months."

Chalmers 1913 MOTOR CARS

Made in Chalmers Shop

Chalmers Cars Represent Far More Than Steel, Wood and Leather

They are the finished result of the ideas, ideals and experience of the MEN in the Chalmers organization.

No product is greater than the men who make it. From the beginning, the ideal of the Chalmers Company has been to make "Quality cars at medium prices."

Always the Chalmers Company has offered the greatest value for the money. It was the first to market a real automobile at $1500; first to offer in the Chalmers "Thirty-Six" all the most advanced features; first to produce in the Chalmers "Six" a maximum car at a medium price.

The Chalmers name on the radiator means much to the automobile public.

Compare these Chalmers features with those of any any other car:

Electric lights, Turkish cushions, Nickel trimmings. Improved springs, long stroke motor, 4-forward speed Transmission, Eleven-inch upholstery, Increased Wheel base, Demountable rims, Big wheels and tires. Dual ignition system, Speedometer, Special mohair top, Rain vision windshield.

"Thirty-Six" (four cylinders)	$1950
"Six," 5-passenger	$2400
"Six," 7-passenger	$2600

(Prices include full equipment)

Let us take you for a demonstration in a Chalmers car over any roads you may select.
